15 August 2015 - Gaynor wins the PCC Olympics for Ireland

The Republic of Ireland, in the person of Mary Gaynor, won the second Phyllis Court Olympics tournament today, with a string of fine wins. 16 players took part from the following 8 nations - England, Finland, India, New Zealand, Northern Ireland, Republic of Ireland, Scotland, Spain; (Shetland had to withdraw sick).

The tournament was run as a handicap event this time round, which was more satisfactory given the wide range handicaps in the field (which ranged from Chris Roberts' -2, through to this season's newcomers Dee and Angus McKibbin (Northern Ireland) in 12 handicap and Pilar Carpenter (Spain) on 14.

India, in the shape of Raghu Iyer, was beaten in a close final 7 - 5, which gave Richard Peperell a first experience of on court refereeing.

New Zealand 1 (John Kennedy) took out pre-event favourite England 1 (Ian Norris) but then fell victim to Ireland in the quarter-finals.

Others to impress were Joanna Iyer (England) and the aforementioned Angus McKibbin in his first ever tournament.

Ireland dropped a game in the block stage to Finland (Helena Fensome), but won the rest to claim the winner's gold medal.

Mary was joined on the podium by silver medalist India (Raghu) and England pair Frances Colman and Mike Fensome who shared the bronze.

Flags of the nations lined to courts and provided as lovely backdrop to the players who all sported national colours.
